LOW SPEED RAILROADING

While economic indicators are inconclusive to the state of recovery of the nation, social indicators are much more decisive as foreclosures have remained a fixture and forced some to seek shelter in unconventional locations. Initially under reported, railroads across the country have been dealing with large security breaches due to the homeless hitching rides and lodging inside railcars.

A representative of the Hudson, Osage, Battlecreek & Olivia railroad commented, "The increasing number of migrants found stolen away on our lines have forced us to up security measures, which, unfortunately, means more costs passed to our customers in terms of freight and mileage." The representative only detailed their latest method of sniffing out trespassers: canines sensitive to the smell of freelance passengers. "Our dogs are working real hard. They have managed to catch several trespassers this week alone" the representative furthered.

This hasn't seemed to deter most drifters, though, as reports keep coming in of more and more riding the rail in boxcars across America. One drifter, who would only allow us to refer to him as Mr. P. Handler, remarked on the railroads new security measures, "Dem guys too stupid to catch me before, ain't no dumb pooches gonna find me neither." Mr. P. Handler noted that at conventional speeds trains move so slowly that it makes it easy for hitchhikers to grab a ride but he has had to change his methods. One new strategy is riding in tank cars. Gets a little slick when you try to get out, air a little thin, but corn oil ain't too bad."

The number of trespassers on the railroad have reached a level that was common during the Great Depression, as seen from a report done by the Department of Transportation. Mr. P. Handler left one parting comment about his unrepentant lifestyle, "Free food when I can find it, free ride, plenty of site seein, it ain't no joke. Jokes on them, on you."

Well, isn't it?
